ORIENTATION DAY INVITATION LETTER

Dear Student,

Warm Greetings from Maharashtra National Law University Mumbai!

MNLU Mumbai is happy to provisionally admit you to the LL.M. Programme. It will be most sincere endeavor of the University to ensure that the trust reposed on it is realised to the maximum extent during the course of these years of tutelage. The object of NLU is to provide socially relevant education that emphasizes the development of exceptional human resources to contribute to the nation-building endeavor by means of legal education and research. Its aim is to expand beyond the class-room and engage in activities that add value to professional acumen of individuals, simultaneously garnering the best of their potential. The courses are rigorous; but the end-results are mostly satisfying. It is a transformative education, opening up multiple career options, not necessarily limited to core legal practices, and ushers in a compulsive life-long education in any field of expertise. As parents, you are expected to be a major beneficiary of all successful outcomes and as such, an important partner in this mission.

It is customary to begin the journey with an orientation programme, which will spell out the role of respective stake-holders- students, teachers, parents, administration and authorities of the University - in designing the road map to success. We will have the privilege of hearing eminent judges, legal luminaries, erudite scholars and academic administrators and be guided by their wisdom. The University will observe its Ninth Orientation Day on 5th August 2023, when all newly admitted students and their parents will participate in a day-long event beginning at 10.00 AM (IST). The programme schedule will be shared shortly. However, detailed orientation with respect to respective departments and activities will follow during the week with the students. Students are required to be in the prescribed dress code.

In case you have applied for the hostel, the same will be allotted on 4th August 2023 from 8.00 AM onwards. Accommodation for parents is not available.

On behalf of the University community and on my personal behalf, I invite you to join the Orientation Day programme and actively participate in the deliberations.

The verification of documents will take place on 7th August 2023 and thereafter the classes will continue without break till the end-term examinations. Other details will be shared shortly.

We look forward to meet you soon.

With regards,

Anil G. Variath
